

Methuselah

*Altogether, Methuselah lived 969 years, and then he died.
Genesis 5:27*

Can you imagine being a teenager when Christopher Columbus set sail for the new world, live long enough to ride over on the Mayflower, survive the Civil War, World War 1 and 2, see man land on the moon, and still only be half-way through your life? That's approximately the length of time Methuselah walked upon the earth. Volumes could probably be written about the things he must have seen, the stories he could tell, and the lessons he must have learned. But all we have recorded is that he lived to be 969 years old. Maybe one of the things we can learn from this is that God puts a much greater emphasis on the quality of a person's life rather than the quantity.
